

A photograph of two young women hugging outdoors. The woman on the left has long, wavy brown hair and is wearing a blue and white plaid shirt. The woman on the right has dark hair pulled up and is wearing a white shirt. They are both smiling and looking towards the camera. The background is a soft-focus green field with hills in the distance. The lighting is warm, suggesting late afternoon or early morning.

Length of stay for victims of domestic violence and human trafficking increased by

- ▶ Human Trafficking Clients Staying An Average of 49 days
- ▶ Domestic Violence clients Staying An Average of 98 days

This increase in the length of stay indicates more guests are engaging in our programming long-term, allowing them to truly transform their lives once leaving our services and not return to their previous circumstances. We are excited about this shift in reducing recidivism and the future of hope it brings for our guests.
